

➤ Thematic Special Session A: Technopolis for All Ages

- ❖ Date/Time: 13th September 2017 / 10:00-12:00 AM
- ❖ Venue: Convention Room B (3F), Hotel ICC
- ❖ Co-Organizer: KAIST Graduate School of Science & Technology Policy, Republic of Korea

A livable city for all ages considering the life course is the main theme of the Thematic Special Session A. At the Session, we are going to share the experiences of Seoul and Silicon Valley and discuss strategies of urban planning and health and welfare services in consideration of the features of Technopolis.

The session is also going to introduce and discuss the World Health Organization (WHO) Global Network of Age-friendly Cities and Communities, Walkable City Seoul project, and Santa Clara County's initiatives in Silicon Valley to build age-friendly communities.

Keywords: Aging Society, Life Course, Local Community, Urban Policy, Inclusive Growth

(Opening Remark)

So Young Kim

Head and Professor of Graduate School of Science and Technology Policy, KAIST, Republic of Korea

(Speakers)

Moon Choi

Professor of Graduate School of Science and Technology Policy, KAIST, Republic of Korea

"Building an Age-Friendly Technopolis"

So Hyun Park

Professor of Department of Architecture & Architectural Engineering, Seoul National University, Republic of Korea

"Walkable City Discussions for the Upcoming Aged Society"

Diana Miller

Director of Seniors' Agenda Project, Department of Aging and Adult Services, Santa Clara County, CA, U.S.

"Social Innovation in Silicon Valley: Creating an Age-friendly City"

* Moderator: Yoon Jung Lee, Professor of Graduate School of Science and Technology Policy, KAIST, Republic of Korea